1. How To Find Out If You Are Being Lied To By MSM When It Comes To Covid

I realise many people come on Twitter to get alternative viewpoints to what is being peddled in MSM. Some people don't have the time to do the research and others just couldn't be bothered.

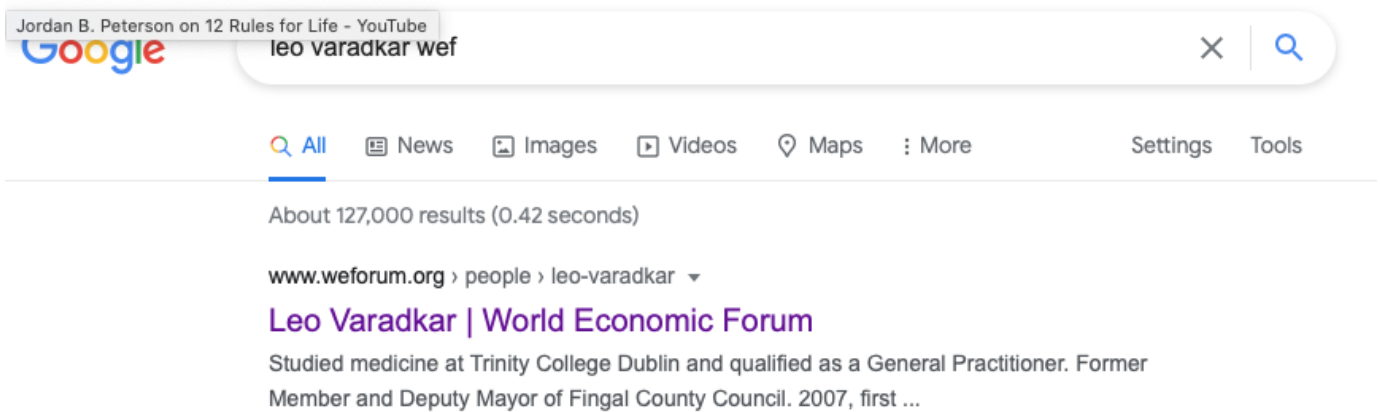

🧵 1/24

2. Whatever the reason it doesn't really matter. Sometimes it can be quite hard to ascertain whether you are being told the truth or not. 1st rule of thumb is if the media calls someone else a conspiracy theorist then you absolutely should pay attention to what they have to say.

3. Seriously though in times of Covid it can be difficult to tell the truth from the porky pies. So here are my top tips when doing any research.

4. Check if the person or organisation is part of the World Economic Forum. Anyone that has ties to them need to be investigated. This can be as simple as typing in their name + wef into Google. For example Leo Varadkar wef. Same for any big business, organisation or think tank

5. If you want to double check the big multinationals just go to the partners section of the World Economic Forum. If you type in the 4 main vax companies, you won't be surprised to find that they are all members weforum.org/partners/#sear...

6. Next tip is to look at family members. An example would be Ireland's Green Minister, Eamon Ryan. Ryan's brother is Dr Robert Ryan. His brother's company is called Medmark. Jobs for the boys.

medmark.ie/about-us/team....

7. They were awarded the contract by the department of education for the medical assessment of teachers during Covid. There was no tender process as it was skipped over due to the state of emergency. Politicians lobbying on family members behalf and getting them contracts.

8. It is also advisable to see if a person has any other directorships in any other companies and what the companies do. The easiest way of finding this out in Ireland is to go to solocheck.ie

Sometimes you may unearth a gem in the paper trail

9. Boards of directors or advisors of a particular company is often a gold mine. A good example of this was TIFCO who are running the hotel quarantine in Ireland. Nothing was really coming up but something was bothering me.

10. I found out that in 2018 TIFCO was bought by Apollo Global Management for €204m. Apollo Global Management is a global alternative investment manager firm and reported $414B of assets under management as of the end of June 2020.

11. On the board of directors is Kerry Healey who is in the WEF, a member of the Council Of Foreign Relations (CFR) and The Trilateral Commission (TC). She is a real heavy hitter, especially if she is in all 3 organisations. This is highly unusual.

Kerry Healey

President, Babson College

BA in Government, Harvard; PhD in Political Science and Law, Trinity College, Dublin. Worked for more than a decade as a public policy consultant to the United States Department of Justice for Cambridge-based think tank Abt Associates. Former Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts and a leading advocate for the expansion of women's rights and higher education in Afghanistan. Fellow, Harvard Kennedy School's Institute of Politics and Harvard's Center for Public Leadership. Her research and published work focused on gang violence, drug abuse, child abuse, and domestic violence. Internationally recognized for service in academia, government, and humanitarian work both in the United States and overseas. Led numerous philanthropic initiatives, including: efforts to combat child homelessness with the National Center on Family Homelessness; delivering humanitarian aid to children and the elderly in Cuba; the Parity Project, a bipartisan effort to promote the election and appointment of women to high-level government offices; and training female parliamentarians in Afghanistan.

12. So once you have exhausted the WEF its time to move onto the Council Of Foreign Relations and Trilateral Commission and see if any individuals are members there.

13. Next tip. For companies who use fact checking services you have to be extra vigilant. For example one of the UK's largest fact checking companies is fullfact.org . The first thing to do is to see who is funding them.

14. Most companies are transparent enough but you still have to dig a bit. It is often in the about us section fullfact.org/about/.

Alternatively just type the domain name/company name + funding.

15. You can see here that they are heavily funded by Facebook and Google so you should beware of anything they say as there are vested interests at play. Facebook and Google are both WEF partners as well. Keep a close eye out to see if any are funded by Pharma

16. It is also worth having a peek at their accounts if you can access them. Registered charities in the UK have to have their accounts in the public domain. You can often find gold dust in the small print

17. After I check to see if there is a WEF connection my immediate next port of call is the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. You just go to and type in the name of the company to see if they've received any grants.

18. For example last week The Irish Times wrote an article saying that deaths were underreported. The company who did the "research" IHME is the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation.

19. They received a 10yr, $279-million investment from Bill Melinda Gates Foundation. Gates practically owns them. The same Gates who has huge shares in the Pharma companies.

Other "philanthropic" organisations such as George Soros Open Society are worth keeping an eye on too

SEATTLE (January 25, 2017) – The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and University of Washington's Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation (IHME) announced today the foundation's commitment to invest $279 million in IHME to expand its work over the next decade.

The investment will allow IHME to build on its work providing independent health evidence to improve population health. The award complements other investments from the Gates Foundation to further the work of the University of Washington's Population Health Initiative, which was launched in May 2016 and is establishing a university wide, 25-year vision to advance the health and well-being of people around the world.

20. Next tip. Sometimes a connection may not be obvious at all. Here is an example of a total random one. The Virunga National Park is in Congo and Africa's most biodiverse protected area. It exists to protect 1/ 3 of the world's wild mountain gorillas.

blog.nationalgeographic.org/2017/05/12/int...

21. Its Director, Emanuel De Merode is in the WEF. More interestingly though is the fact that most of the funding comes from the Buffet Foundation. Why would Buffet be interested in a National park in the Congo. Buffet is also Bill Gates mentor.

Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation

The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, guided by the belief that every life has equal value, is working to help people lead healthy, productive lives. Based in Seattle, it is led by Chief Executive Officer Mark Suzman, under the direction of Bill and Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett. The foundation supports work in over 100 countries.

22. The answer although not obvious makes perfect sense. Buffet couldn't care about the park, it's all to do with resources. The areas of the Virunga National Park are allocated as oil concessions which cover around 85% of its land

Globalists love controlling valuable resources

23. All roads lead to Rome. Stick to the WEF, BMGF, CFR & TLC, 9/10 times you won't go wrong when researching a particular person or business in relation to C19. I hope you found this helpful in seeing how I unearth material. It requires a bit of work but is not rocket science.

24. You know the drill 😊 I write these 🧵 in my spare time and would really appreciate if you could retweet the very 1st tweet. Likes are great but retweets are required to reach as large an audience as possible to expose what is really going on behind the scenes. Many thanks.
