1. Did You Know That There Are At Least 115 Global Leaders Who Are Members Of The World Economic Forum (Nearly 70%)

Many country governments are also members.

But first we have to go back in time to the Earth Summit which was held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil in 1992

New 🧵 1/21

2. It was the climax of a process that had begun in December 1989, of planning, education and negotiations among all member states of the United Nations, leading to the adoption of Agenda 21, an official global consensus on development and environmental cooperation.

3. Agenda 21 has now morphed into Agenda 2030. If you are unsure of what it entails I wrote a thread which explains it in 2 minutes in an interview with Rosa Koire (RIP) and Spiro Skouras

1. Agenda 2021/2030 Explained In 2 Minutes And Why Its Important

For the last year people have been focused in on Covid with every country around all the world experiencing some kind of lockdown in one shape or another. Covid is only one piece of the jigsaw. 📖 1/23

4. It was in 1992 that 175 Nations agreed to the document. Nobody actually signed it, rather it was agreed by consensus.

Out of these 175 countries, 115 happen to have WEF members.

It's important to explain the criteria for inclusion.

5. I went through each countries Prime Minister or President to see if they had WEF links. For example Boris Johnson + wef.

I also considered leaders of the same countries from 2016 onwards (within 5 years) as there are elections and leaders change.

6. I also included those who attended WEF meetings but are not WEF members.

Even though 60 countries had no link these are all for the most part tiny island nations or small countries that have very little influence on the world stage.

Nearly all big countries are represented.

7. It's obviously impossible to go through all names here so I have broken them down alphabetically into 4 screen captures and included an excel spread sheet with every name on it.

9. Many could argue "so what". It's just a list of world leaders on the WEF site, it doesn't mean anything.

I would agree apart from the fact that it isn't just world leaders, its thousands of politicians as well. A case in point is UK who has 21 members

The image shows a screenshot of a tweet from the user @ThreadsIrish. The tweet text reads: "1. Did You Know That The UK Has At Least 21 Politicians Who Are Members Of The World Economic Forum ? From present day politicians to past politicians to previous Prime Ministers the UK is heavily invested in the World Economic Forum. This one graphic says it all." Below the text is a graphic with the WEF logo at the top and the text "United Kingdom Government" in large white letters on a dark background. To the right of the main text, it says "Headquarters United King". The tweet is dated "10:00 AM · Oct 13, 2021" and has 1.9K likes and 117 replies. At the bottom of the tweet is a button that says "Tweet your reply".

10. Ireland has 4.

Germany is interesting. Merkel is finishing up to be replaced by Olaf Scholz (WEF) or Armin Laschet (WEF) possibly in a coalition with Green party leader Annalena Baerbock who is a Young Global Leader (WEF)

All bases are covered

The screenshot shows a tweet from the account @Threadslrish. The tweet's text reads: "1. Who Are Ireland's Members Of The World Economic Forum ?" followed by "Politicians, Former Presidents, Musicians, Clergy, Bankers, Journalists, Human Rights, Artificial Intelligence, Corporations etc". Below the text, it says "New [book icon] 1/25". The tweet includes a screenshot of the World Economic Forum website. The website screenshot shows a navigation bar with "Agenda", "Events", "Reports", and "Platforms", and a "Sign Up" button. Below the navigation bar, there are breadcrumb links: "Articles > Economy > Ireland". The main content area is titled "Ireland" and features three article cards. The first card is titled "CLIMATE CHANGE" and "How a system value approach can help Ireland meet its climate targets", with a sub-headline "We examine how Ireland can apply the World Economic Forum's 'System Value Framework' to halve its emissions by 2030 and enable a clean energy transition." and a byline "Pat O'Doherty 10 May 2021". The second card is titled "IRELAND" and "Ireland looks to pubs and derelict buildings to boost remote working outside cities", with a sub-headline "Ireland plans to create 400 remote working hubs as part of a new development policy to increase the rural population and enliven town centres." and a byline "Reuters Staff - Reuters 31 Mar 2021". The third card is titled "COVID-19" and "Ireland's PM will work as a doctor during the coronavirus crisis", with a sub-headline "Ireland's Prime Minister, Leo Varadkar has re-registered as a medical practitioner in an effort to help out throughout the coronavirus crisis." and a byline "Thomson Reuters Foundation - Reuters 06 Apr 2020". Below the website screenshot, the tweet shows the time "9:18 AM · Jul 19, 2021", a heart icon with "610", a comment icon with "47", and a link icon with "Copy link to Tweet". At the bottom of the tweet is a button that says "Tweet your reply".

11. Here is just a small sample of leaders from the spread sheet. In fact there are 1000s from multiple countries and it doesn't matter if you are left leaning or right.

But how long has this been going on for. The YGL site has been around since 2004.

1. Who Are The Young Global Leaders That Have Been Handpicked To Bring About Global Change ?

Recognisable names from Royalty, Politics, Sports, Technology, TV & Professors have all appeared on the YGL list.

12. The predecessor to YGL was GLT (Global Leaders for Tomorrow), a community started by the WEF in 1992 which coincidentally is the same year as the "Earth Summit". Some recognisable politicians were handpicked such as Merkel, Blair, Putin & Orban

13. Klaus Schwab even admitted as much in an interview he gave a few years ago where he mentioned three of the four by name

14. What is also particularly interesting is how difficult the WEF makes it to discover the membership of various leaders from the different countries.

Global Elites like to use the expression “hiding in plain sight”

15. The WEF is transparent about many things on its site such as the 4th Industrial Revolution and its list of partners who you can see here.

They are however, how can I put it, less transparent when it comes to the list of people on its books.

weforum.org/partners/

16. You have to dig quite hard to find them on the site.

The WEF is also working closely with many of the bigger governments although you wouldn't know by glancing at the site.

There is no link from the main page to its list of members or govts.

What are they afraid of ?

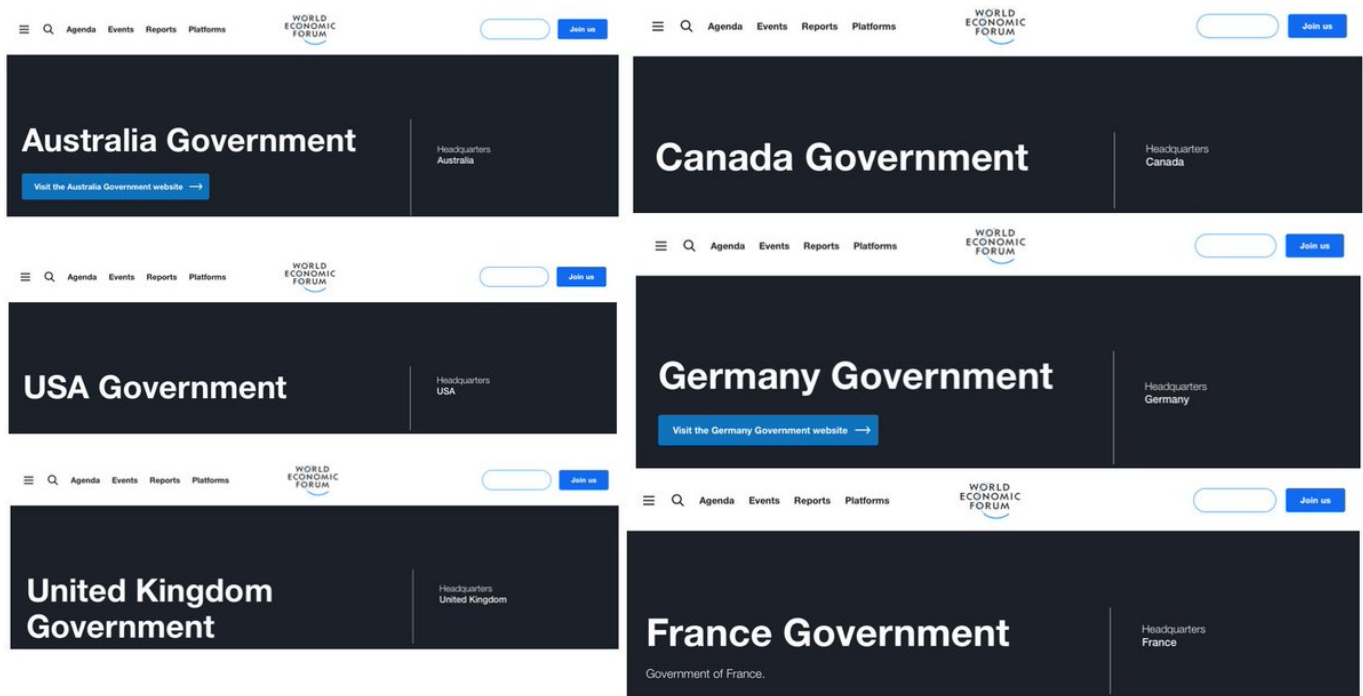

17. Here are just 6 Govts they are working with. USA, UK, Australia, Canada, Germany & France. Why hide them ?

If you want to search for others just type in weforum.org/organizations/...

and replace usa with a country. It may or may not appear. For example weforum.org/organizations/...

18. So far we can trace links back to 1992 to the Earth Summit, GLT, YGL & WEF. Most recently the UN struck a deal with WEF in 2019 to speed up the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

Coincidental timing of course in light of recent pandemic events.

weforum.org/press/2019/06/...

19. Everything seems to come full circle. What started off in 1992 seems to have been cemented in 2019

As I have said on numerous occasions it could just be one big coincidence. However, when you have that many coincidences and the same names cropping up it is wise to dig deeper

20. Countries locked down, socialist distancing, mask & v mandates, covid passes etc

Never forget that never in the history of mankind have all countries agreed on everything. Why is now so different ?

Could it all be traced back to Agenda 20/30 promises made in 1992 ?

21. You know the drill 😊 I write these 🧵 in my spare time and would really appreciate if you could retweet the very 1st tweet. Likes are great but retweets are required to reach as large an audience as possible to expose what is really going on behind the scenes. Many thanks.
